

The Official SIMON JOYCE Memorial League

FOR THE LOVE OF JOYCE, SOMEONE PLEASE BEAT TOM

This week saw the Packers and Vikings embroiled in a controversial tied game, a Bills player actually give up on his team and retire at halftime, and the sudden and mysterious trade of our lord and saviour Flash Gordon. Does anyone else feel like every football season is just a bit weirder than the last?

League-wise it was a low-scoring affair for most, as studs faltered and random, seemingly inadvisable waiver pickups went crazy. Graeme went from highest to lowest score of the week, and the only constant seems to be Ryan Fitzpatrick! Fantasy football is a crazy arsehole, sometimes.

Unluckiest Team

Teenage Mutant Ninja Bortles (Jade) would have won against

42.86%

of opponents, but came away with a loss.

Most Improved

This week Elway or the Highway
(Phil) scored

32.26

more than last week and won his first matchup.

Luckiest Team

Bukkake Surprise (Tom)
managed to go 2-0, outscoring

57.14%

of opponents and nobody, least of all him, knows how.

Shit The Bed

Sam Francisco's 40 Miners
(Graeme) scored

62.94

less than last week...how the mighty have fallen.

Week 2 Recap

Standings

1. Michelle	2-0
2. Tom	2-0
3. Graeme	1-1
4. David	1-1
5. Phil	1-1
6. Rolly	1-1
7. Jade	0-2
8. Holly	0-2

Next Steps

Prepare thyself (and thy team, obviously) for rivalry week!